LLM PROGRAMS
FALL 2023 ENTERING CLASS

THE GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY LAW SCHOOL
WASHINGTON, D.C.

DC's oldest law school, still ahead of its time

For more than 150 years,
GW Law students have studied law in the center of the most dynamic legal and policy
activity in the United States:
Washington, D.C.

Come explore the GW Law Experience.

We make history

GW Law has an impressive, longstanding record of educating forward-thinking leaders. By 1895, our graduates had already written the patents for Bell's telephone, Mergenthaler's linotype machine, and Eastman's roll film camera.

Today, our LLM and graduate law alumni serve in visible, prestigious roles around the world. Here's a sample of our graduates' past and present accomplishments:

- Attorney General of Pakistan
- Chief Justice, Bhutan
- Prime Minister, Mongolia
- Minister of Economic Affairs, Republic of China
- Attorney General of Bhutan
- Second Director General, World Intellectual Property Organization
- Deputy Permanent Representative of Mexico to UNESCO
- Minister of Defense, Romania
- Senator and Minister of State, Ministry of Security, Jamaica
- Member of Parliament, Georgia
- Ambassador of Romania to the United States
- Ambassador of Tanzania to the United States
- Member of the Parliament, Republic of Ghana
- Director, Program on Law and Innovation and Professor of Law, Vanderbilt University Law School
- First female Judge Advocate General, U.S. Navy
- Partners at prestigious law firms such as Sidley Austin and Pillsbury Winthrop

GW Law offers students the tools to launch or advance their legal careers through our extensive curriculum, faculty of well-respected scholars and practitioners, high-quality externship opportunities in the nation's capital, and emphasis on professionalism and career development.

How will you make history at GW Law?

“ GW offers great opportunities to both study and hold externships nearby. For instance, I found my International Investment and Arbitration class so useful when I interned at the World Bank. It was like seeing my textbook in practice. ”

NAYOMI GOONESEKERE, LLM '19
International and Comparative Law
Home Country: Sri Lanka

It's all about who we know.

DC's best legal minds

Our professors bring the legal world into the classroom. For instance, Professor Bradley Clark led a recent conversation with his friend Justice Elena Kagan (pictured left) before a room full of our students. Our professors argue before the Supreme Court, testify on Capitol Hill, and teach at GW Law. That's what we call "Law in Action." It means our professors are not only scholars, but that they engage in shaping the practice and evolution of the law. That experience and access benefits our students.

In addition, our D.C. location allows us to draw from the movers and shakers among legal practitioners to round out our adjunct faculty. Leading practitioners from the World Bank, the U.S. Department of Justice, and the Environmental Protection Agency; top think tanks; local and federal courts; and even the Supreme Court bring real-world experience to our classrooms.

A wealth of program offerings

GW Law features a robust selection of 11 specialized LLM degree programs, along with a general LLM for students who may wish to concentrate on one or more areas, such as constitutional law, criminal law, labor law, corporate law, or health care law. In addition, we offer an SJD program for advanced research, as well as a Master of Studies in Law degree in various concentrations for non-lawyers.

Our classes are open to both JD and LLM students, allowing a range of experience, perspective, and outlook that enriches the classroom experience for all. The core courses for each program are listed below. In addition, you can select related courses from among our 275 elective course offerings.

A Diverse Community of Colleagues

GW Law is more than a law school, it is truly a community of legal professionals striving for excellence in a collegial environment. Our student body is diverse. Among graduate law applicants for the fall 2022 entering class, for instance, 86 countries were represented among applicants. The class includes recent law school graduates, military judge advocates, solo practitioners, law clerks, human rights activists, prosecutors, corporate counsel, judges, and government officials, as well as Fulbright scholars.

Our U.S. and international LLM students take their courses together, as well as with JD students. In our classrooms, therefore, students find fertile ground for discussions that incorporate global perspectives and insights from both experienced and burgeoning legal minds.

Support for International Students

Each year, talented students who received their legal training at law schools outside the United States enroll at GW Law. The fall 2022 graduate law entering class included students from 47 countries. The top countries represented were United States, India, Brazil, China, South Korea, Egypt, Ethiopia, France, Germany, Nigeria, Colombia, and Georgia.

International students take courses with U.S. students, working side-by-side with both LLM and JD students. This proximity allows students to exchange ideas and insights and form strong, lasting bonds. In addition, courses available in our degree programs satisfy the New York Bar requirements for foreign-trained attorneys who plan to sit for a U.S. bar exam.

GW Law's Graduate and International Programs office provides a range of assistance to international students to ensure a smooth transition to the United States and to the GW campus. Services include academic advising and course selection guidance, and assistance with issues including housing, campus resources, and life in Washington, D.C. We also assist students in developing an individual plan for their next steps after degree completion, whether the student plans to remain in the United States to gain practical training before returning to their home country or plans to sit for a U.S. bar exam.

On average, approximately 40 countries have been represented in each incoming LLM class over the past 10 years.

Internships for LLM Students

Valuable Experience and Connections

Our students benefit from GW Law's proximity to the variety of institutions that surround our campus. GW is located in the heart of D.C., across the street from the World Bank and International Monetary Fund, two blocks from Big Law on K Street, and three blocks from the State Department. We are a short Metro ride away from the Supreme Court, the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, the Environmental Protection Agency, and a host of nongovernmental and policy agencies.

That proximity, along with the established networks of our faculty, staff, and alumni, offers students unparalleled, yearlong access to internship opportunities. In addition, students in the LLM Programs in Business and Finance Law, Intellectual Property Law, Government Procurement Law, National Security and U.S. Foreign Relations Law, and International and Comparative Law, as well as the general LLM program, may be able to earn credit for qualifying internships through GW Law's Field Placement Program.

Our LLM students have held internships at the American Bar Association Rule of Law Initiative, World Bank Global Forum on Law Justice and Development, Law Library of Congress, World Bank Multilateral Investment Guarantee Agency, and other international organizations in the area, to name a few.

All of our programs satisfy the requirements of the New York State Bar Association.

“ GW has such an outstanding library that offers wonderful opportunities to do high-quality scholarly research and writing. Such easy access to databases and research materials is an added value for EU students studying at GW. ”

Study Abroad Opportunities

GW–OXFORD SUMMER PROGRAM IN INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS LAW

Law students, practicing lawyers and judges, members of the armed forces, government officials, and persons working for nongovernmental and intergovernmental organizations in the field of international human rights come together to study international human rights through GW's program each summer. Classes are held and accommodations provided at New College, Oxford. Approximately 65 students representing more than a dozen countries participate each year.

MUNICH INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY SUMMER PROGRAM

GW Law offers a two-week intellectual property law program each summer in Munich, Germany, a city known as Europe's "Intellectual Property Capital." The program offers courses, special lectures, and site visits to local IP institutions such as the European Patent Office. Typically, 25 students from GW Law, other American ABA-approved law schools, and foreign law schools participate each summer.

“ What I’m learning in my LLM classes is specifically applicable to what I’m doing at work. It would take about 10 years to amass the knowledge I’m learning now in one year. ”

LLM Students and Careers

Launch Your Career, Advance Your Career

With one of the largest legal career counseling teams in the country, GW Law is dedicated to helping LLM students develop a personalized career path in today's competitive job market, whether it be for an internship during the academic year or for full-time employment upon completion of their LLM.

A dedicated LLM Career Counselor works closely with the Graduate and International Programs Office to host professional development events for LLM students, including networking receptions with practitioners and alumni, career counseling, mock interviews, and resume workshops.

In addition, GW Law participates in the International Student Interview Program held in New York each year.

Our alumni practice law throughout the United States and in more than 40 countries around the world.

“ I was amazed by the number of international students and the wide diversity of nationalities represented. It allows for a greater exchange of information and expands your knowledge of other countries, especially as it relates to the law. ”

A Front-Row Seat

GW Law in DC

The movers and shakers in the world of law and policy all have ties to D.C. Many of them teach at GW Law; others come to visit. Each year, our students are enriched by networking opportunities provided by more than 400 on-campus events featuring high-level officials and practitioners.

In addition, GW Law hosts major conferences and symposia throughout the year. For example, the law school hosts the State Department's Public International Advisory Committee meetings, which are open to the public. In addition, we host conferences on international arbitration and on anti-corruption and anti-terrorism, along with annual events such as the Shapiro Conference on environmental law, the Manuel F. Cohen Lecture given by notable figures in business and finance law, the annual intellectual property symposium, and the Global Internet Freedom Project featuring speakers on the intersection of internet freedom and human rights.

A City of Surprises

Washington, DC

Another advantage of attending GW Law is participating in the life of the city. D.C. is a vibrant, multinational city of diverse treasures. The resonance of its history is everywhere. Our students frequently tell stories of walking near campus and doing a double-take as they spot the edge of the Lincoln Memorial or the top of the Washington Monument. Such extraordinary, everyday moments.

D.C. is full of those moments. It offers a blend of American history, international flavor, and cultural activity that few cities can match, and it has been called the most livable city on the East Coast. Each neighborhood has a unique character, and few cities can match D.C.'s urban energy or its highly educated and multinational population.

As with any great international city, D.C. is home to world-class museums, as well as bookstores, theaters and concert halls, seasonal festivals, professional sports teams, coffee bars, and an eclectic mix of restaurants. GW Law students can easily access almost any part of the D.C. metro area using Metrorail and Metrobus. From the Foggy Bottom-GWU stop, located right on campus, students can arrive within minutes at internships on Capitol Hill, a baseball game at Nationals Park, or an exhibit at the National Gallery.

The D.C. metropolitan area can be a great place for raising a family as well. In addition to numerous strong public school systems, there is a wide variety of kid-friendly activities (many of them free).

There's plenty of entertainment to engage both young and old.

SCHOLARSHIPS AVAILABLE

All applicants will be automatically considered for merit and other scholarships, as appropriate, at the time of application. There is no separate scholarship application.

GW Law Merit Scholarship covers full or partial tuition for U.S. and non-U.S. law school graduates and is awarded on the basis of academic merit and financial need.

Thomas Buergenthal Scholarship covers full or partial tuition for non-U.S. law school graduates and is awarded on the basis of academic merit and financial need.

Ben Gupta Endowed Fund for International Legal Education provides need-based scholarships to non-U.S. law school graduates from the developing world.

The Licks Attorneys LLM Scholarship provides tuition assistance to Brazilian law school graduates.

Arochi Lindner LLM Scholarship provides assistance to Mexican law school graduates.

Richard P. Momsen Fund for Brazilian Law Graduates provides tuition assistance to Brazilian law school graduates with a special interest in U.S. constitutional law or intellectual property law.

The Honorable Gerald J. Mossinghoff Fellowship for Graduate Research in Intellectual Property Law is awarded annually to an LLM candidate who is a U.S. law school graduate. Preference will be given to a candidate specializing in the pharmaceutical field.

Randolph C. Shaw Graduate Fellowship is awarded to a U.S. law school graduate who is an LLM candidate in the Environmental Law program. The recipient will assist the program's director on a part-time basis.

GW Law welcomes veterans and participates in the Veterans Administration's Yellow Ribbon Program.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

All LLM applicants must hold a JD or equivalent law degree earned with high rank from a law school that is a member of the Association of American Law Schools (AALS), or is accredited by the American Bar Association (ABA), or is a recognized non-U.S. institution. Non-U.S. law school graduates also may need to meet the minimum language test requirement. All SJD applicants also must hold an LLM degree with high rank from an AALS- or ABA-approved law school.

Students whose initial law degree was earned from a non-U.S. law school where English is not the language of instruction are required to take the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) and submit an official score report. Minimum required score is 100 IBT or 600-point range on the paper-based test. IELTS scores of 7.0 or higher are accepted in lieu of the TOEFL.

HOW TO APPLY

Applications can be submitted electronically through the Law School Admission Council at www.lsac.org. Prospective students also may print application forms and/or request that printed application materials be mailed to them from our website at www.law.gwu.edu. More detailed information on GW Law's academic programs, as well as entrance and degree requirements for LLM and SJD programs, is available at www.law.gwu.edu/llm-admissions.

★ GW LAW

The law school is housed in a nine-building complex on GW's Foggy Bottom Campus. The complex features modern classrooms, three fully equipped moot court rooms, multiple student lounges and conference rooms, and WiFi access throughout.

1 THE WHITE HOUSE

Four blocks from GW Law, the White House—seat of the nation's executive branch—and nearby Executive Office Building provide several field placement opportunities in fields such as constitutional law and administrative law.

2 WORLD BANK

Through its work helping fund improvements in developing countries, the World Bank—only a block from GW Law—is a valuable resource for students interested in international law and finance law.

3 INTERNATIONAL MONETARY FUND (IMF)

Located right across the street from the law school, the IMF oversees the global financial system and gives students the chance to observe international law and finance law in action.

4 DEPARTMENT OF STATE

The executive branch's agency of foreign affairs, the State Department is a Foggy Bottom landmark three blocks from GW Law. It provides students with a firsthand look at international law at the highest level.

5 U.S. COURT OF FEDERAL CLAIMS/U.S. COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE FEDERAL CIRCUIT

Five blocks from the law school, the U.S. Court of Federal Claims hears claims made against the U.S. government. At the same location, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit has nationwide jurisdiction in a number of subject areas. GW Law students can find clerkships with judges in both courts.

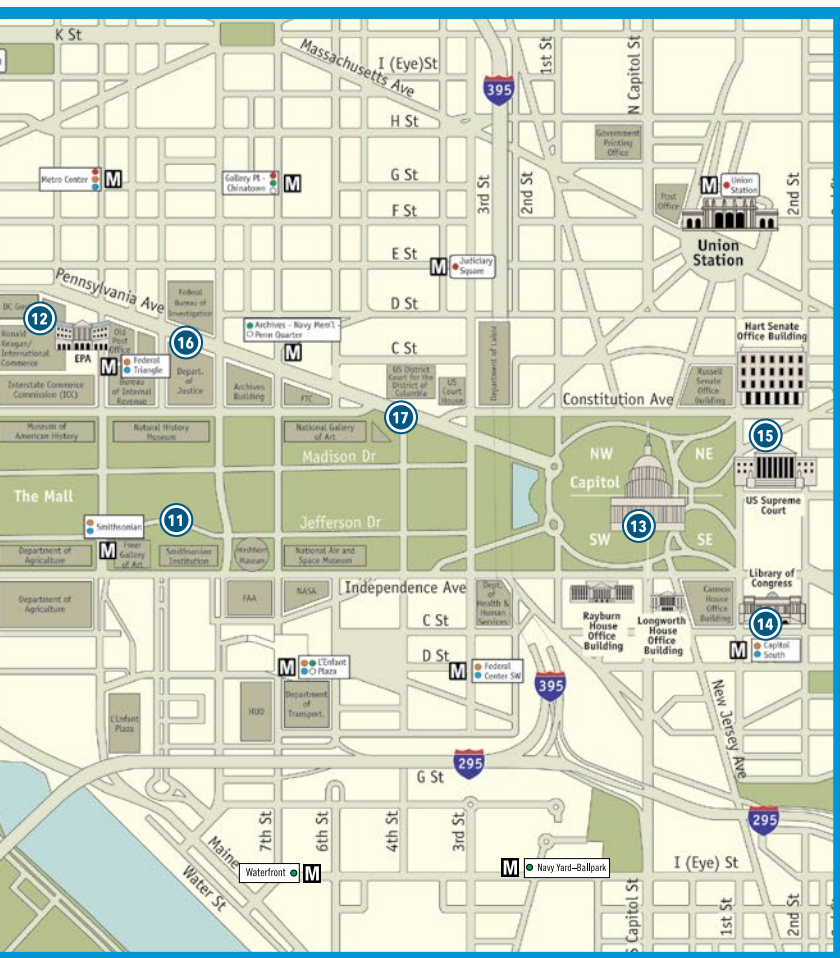

6 ORGANIZATION OF AMERICAN STATES

Made up of 35 nations in North and South America, the OAS works to preserve peace and further development on both continents. GW Law students can find placements in fields as varied as trade law and drug law.

7 KENNEDY CENTER FOR THE PERFORMING ARTS

As the nation's official center for performing arts, the Kennedy Center hosts a variety of cultural events and is home to the National Symphony Orchestra, the Washington Ballet, and the Washington National Opera.

8 LINCOLN MEMORIAL

9 WASHINGTON MONUMENT

10 JEFFERSON MEMORIAL

These three monuments to American presidents are some of the most recognizable landmarks in D.C. All are within walking distance of the law school.

11 SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION

The famed Smithsonian “Castle” is the headquarters of the institution, which oversees 17 Washington museums, including the National Air and Space Museum and the National Portrait Gallery.

12 ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY (EPA)

Students interested in environmental law can find field placements at this federal agency charged with protecting human health and the environment. The EPA’s headquarters are a short Metro ride from GW Law.

13 U.S. CAPITOL AND CONGRESSIONAL OFFICES

Recent field placements on Capitol Hill have included the Senate Health, Education, and Pensions Committee; the Senate Judiciary Committee; and the House Republican Judiciary Committee. The Hill is easily accessible from GW Law by Metro.

14 LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

With the world’s largest collection of legal materials, the Library of Congress is an excellent research resource for law students in all areas of specialization.

15 U.S. SUPREME COURT

The highest court in the land is an ideal venue for students to observe high-profile legal proceedings, as well as pursue clerkships and field placements. During the past decade, seven GW Law grads have gone on to clerk for Supreme Court justices. The court is accessible by Metro.

16 DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

GW Law students frequently find field placements at the government’s legal headquarters, working in fields ranging from counterterrorism to intellectual property litigation. The Justice Department is a short Metro ride from the law school.

17 U.S. DISTRICT COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

The federal trials court for Washington, D.C., offers clerkship opportunities in the chambers of its judges. The district court is Metro-accessible from GW Law.

18 PATENT AND TRADEMARK OFFICE

This Alexandria, Virginia, office is a center of the intellectual property law community. Recent GW Law students have been placed in the Office of the Commissioner. The Patent and Trademark Office is easily reached by Metro and is a 20-minute drive from the law school.
